JORDAN TELLS HOW REDS GOT RADAR PLANE Two Dead As Result Of Traffic Mishaps

Francis Lanney And Canton Man Succumb Today

Lanney Struck By Car
Thursday; Stanley
Hurt On Monday

Traffic accidents claimed two lives here today, one a Salem man and the other from Canton.

The victims were Francis J. Lanney, 61, of 686 Franklin st., who had been struck by a car last Thursday evening, and William Edward Stanley, 31, of 2601 42nd st., Canton, who was killed on U.S. Route 30 near Lisbon last night.

Mr. Lanney died suddenly about 7:30 this morning after arising and then becoming unconscious.

An inquest was held today and revealed that death was due to internal injuries suffered in the accident. Coroner Ernest Sturgeon conducted the autopsy.

He had been released from City hospital after examination Thursday evening after being hit by an automobile on E. State st. near the American Legion home.

He was treated for a lacerated scalp after being hit by a car driven by Robert E. Knauf of R. D. 3, Canfield, who, police said, skidded his car 21 feet to avoid striking the man who stepped from between two parked cars.

William Edward Stanley, 31, of Canton died at 5:20 a. m. today at City Hospital following a high-way accident at 7:05 p. m. Monday on Route 30, three and two-tenths miles south of Lisbon.

Stanley, state patrolman said, was riding in a pick-up truck driven by Joseph E. Davis, 29, of Canton.

The truck developed motor trouble and had stopped on the highway. Stanley and Davis started to get out of the truck to push it off the road when a car driven by Harold Hirsch, 25, of Fairmount, W. Va., came up behind.

Hirsch did not see the truck until too late to stop in back of the truck, he told state patrolmen. He said the truck's tail-lights were not lit.

He said he swerved to the left to pass the truck just as Davis started to climb out of the driver's side. Hirsch then swung back and drove off the berm of the road just as Stanley stepped out of the truck and Hirsch could not stop in time to avoid hitting Stanley.

Stanley was brought to City Hospital suffering from fractured legs and severe body lacerations. Hirsch was not held.

Hurt As Cars Crash

Two persons were injured in one of the other three traffic accidents reported by state patrolmen today.

Alpheus McNair, 45, of R. D. 5, Salem, received contusions of the knee and right leg at 1:45 p. m. Monday on the Millville hill (Route 14) when a tire blew out on his car and he swung across the road into the path of a car driven by Russell B. Myers, 47, of 948 S. Union ave.

The cars collided head-on and both were damaged.

Myers suffered a chest injury and was treated at the Clinic.

Rear-End Collision

R. H. Callahan, 28, of R. D. 1, Salem, crashed into the rear of a car driven by L. E. Eans, 35, of Sebring at 8:15 a. m. Monday on Route 173 between Sebring and Alliance, the patrol said.

Eans had hit a dog on the road and was slowing to a stop when the Callahan car ran into his. No one was hurt but the front of the Callahan car and rear of the Eans car were damaged.

Tangle At Intersection

Effie Wuthrick, 44, of Beloit, failed to stop at the crossing of Route 173 and Route 62 at 5:45 p. m. Monday in Westville and her car collided with a car driven by Grover S. Long, 65, of Beloit, according to the patrol.

No one was injured. The left side of the Wuthrick car and the front of the Long car were damaged.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE SIGNS DIVORCE PAPERS.—Charging "mental cruelty" in her action, Shirley Temple signs divorce papers in Los Angeles superior court, with attorneys George Stahlman (standing) and Clore Warne (seated) witnessing. The former child actress testified she once contemplated suicide because of husband John Agar's alleged drinking and association with Hollywood glamor girls. The divorce, granted by Judge Roy L. Hendon, becomes final in one year, giving custody of the couple's 22-month-old daughter, Linda, to Shirley, and ordering Agar to pay $100 a month for her support. Agar did not contest action.

Angus Ward To Leave Mukden

U. S. Consul, Staff
Depart At 2:45 p. m.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Angus Ward reported today he and his American consulate staff have arranged to leave Mukden at 2:45 p. m. today.

About 23 members of the consulate staff and their dependents expelled with Ward by the Communists, are expected to board a train for the 700-mile trip to the North China port of Tientsin.

Ward's latest report was telephoned to U. S. Consul General O. Edmund Clubb in Peiping and relayed to the State department.

The group of 13 American officials and their families were under Communist orders to quit the Manchurian capital by 7 tonight. All have been virtual prisoners for more than a year. Ward and four of his aides were recently jailed for a month.

Ward was handed the expulsion order only last Friday and since has had to dispose of final chores under difficulties, including paying off his Chinese staff. From Tientsin the U. S. merchant ship Lakeland Victory is expected to take out the entire consulate group.

Red Cross To Hold Project Discussions

At the Red Cross board of directors meeting at 7:30 tonight in the chapter rooms at the Memorial building, discussion will revolve around two projects.

The directors will plan further steps in the activation of the disaster unit in Salem.

The Red Cross, in cooperation with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will again hold a Christmas banquet and distribute gifts to add to the Christmas joy of some of Salem's less fortunate children. The organization's part in this project will be outlined.

E. S. Dawson, board chairman, will preside at the meeting.

State Of Union Drafts Begun

Truman Vacation
Buzzes With Aides

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Presidential advisors came thick and fast today to swim with President Truman and help him draft all-important messages to congress.

They left the chief executive with a personal housing problem. And no Navy man under the rank of captain felt secure in his berth as bunks were provided for the incoming guests.

The overflow spread to the presidential yacht USS Williamsburg, anchored near the temporary "White House" at this naval submarine base, and to "Quarters L," another residence of this naval submarine station.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross identified five of those who arrived yesterday as Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman, Administrative Assistant Charles S. Murphy, Donald Dawson and George Elsey and Brig. General Wallace H. Graham.

Clark M. Clifford, the President's special counsel, has started the first rough drafts of the "state of the union" message which will, among other things, call for:

1. Repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

2. Completion of legislative action on expanded social security.

3. Enactment of the Brannan farm plan.

4. Enactment of the President's national health program.

5. Passage of all the civil rights proposals the President advocates.

Mr. Truman has indicated also that he will seek additional taxes to wipe out the anticipated deficit of more than $5,500,000,000.

FIRE CHIEF TO SPEAK

Vincent Malloy, fire department chief, will give Salem fire fighting history and tell about the present department and equipment at the meeting of the Salem Historical Society at 7:30 tonight in the Memorial building.

Young, Railroad Executive, Coal Intermediary

Meets With Operators And UMW Leaders In Hope Of Settlement

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Robert R. Young, head of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, today entered the soft coal dispute in the role of an intermediary.

Young, A C & O spokesman met with two leading operators' representatives and then left for a reported meeting elsewhere with United Mine Worker officials.

The railroad spokesman said he did not know where the expected conference would take place.

Present at Young's office were George Love, president of Pittsburgh Consolidated Coal Co. of Pittsburgh, and Joseph P. Routh, chairman of the board of the Pittston Co. of New York, a holding company.

Whether John L. Lewis, the UMW chieftain, would join the conferees later was a question mark, the spokesman said. He added:

"We're hopeful something may come out of it, but frankly we don't know."

He described Young's interest in getting the disputants to sit down and talk over their problems as stemming from the railroad's position as the nation's "largest coal originating line." The spokesman explained that 70 percent of the C&O business related to coal and that it serves directly more coal mines than any other railroad in the United States.

"We're anxious to get the railroad back working," he explained.

Meanwhile negotiations for a new hard coal (anthracite) contract were scheduled to get under way here today.

Aides of the United Mine Workers president here and in Washington said they did not know whether he would appear or leave the preliminary conferences in charge of a union committee.

The committee is headed by Thomas Kennedy, UMW vice-president, who arrived in New York last night.

Student Publication Levels At "Ike"

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Columbia University's student newspaper has opened up with some caustic comments about the university's president, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In an editorial yesterday, "The Columbia Daily Spectator" leveled its main fire at a speech Eisenhower made last week before the St. Andrew's society at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"If the speech was a trial balloon," the newspaper said, "we think public reaction will soon flatten it."

The general, in the speech, said he thought too much emphasis was being placed on personal security at the expense of individual liberty. He was quoted as saying that perhaps people wanted champagne when they should have "hot dogs and beer."

The student editorial commented:

"Being content with beer and hot dogs has never been part of the American tradition we know. The one we know assures any citizen that he may some day eat champagne and caviar, and in the White House at that. We don't know, of course, but we are willing to bet beer and hot dogs weren't on the menu at the Waldorf-Astoria last Wednesday night, either."

Arturo Toscanini
Named Italian Senator

ROME, Dec. 6.—(AP)—It's Senator Arturo Toscanini now. The famous conductor was named a life-time senator of the Italian republic yesterday for his contributions to the world of music.

Toscanini, born in Parma, Italy, in 1867, lived most of the time of his self-imposed exile in the United States. Since the war he has returned many times to Italy to conduct concerts there.

Water Shortage Makes Big Splash—Residents of drought-ridden Roosevelt, N. J., draw their ration of water from an Army truck sent from Fort Monmouth, N. Cincinnati, O., Philadelphia, Baltimore, Jersey City, New Brunswick, N. J., and Memphis are among the bigger cities facing drastic water shortages. If water continues to disappear at its present rate, authorities say vast areas of the U. S. might become desert wastelands.

Board Approves Building Details

Plastic Chalkboards
Planned At Reilly

A decision was reached to use green, plastic chalkboards in the new Reilly School addition when the board of education met Monday night in the High School building.

The chalkboards were included in the building fund, being offered as an alternative proposal by the contractor in charge of the building program at the school.

The board approved the installation of two gate valves which will give zone control to the heating of Reilly School. In other words, the gymnasium in the school can be heated for an evening's entertainment without heating the whole building.

A proposal was also approved to install a sink with hot and cold water in the trainer's quarters of the team room of the Reilly addition.

Arrangements were completed for installing a hydraulic ash hoist at Reilly School to enable ashes to be lifted to truck-bed level.

E. S. Kerr, superintendent of schools, reported to the board that the floor of the stage in the High School auditorium has been repaired, sanded and refinished. He also said that the wall-pocket folding tables ordered for the gymnasiums at McKinley and Prospect schools have arrived and are expected to be installed this week.

The board agreed to assist in the purchase of a new piano to be used in the McKinley School gymnasium.

A report was read concerning the attendance of Thomas E. Crothers and Howard Pardee, High School teachers, at the annual Music Educators Conference in Columbus Dec. 2-3.

C. M. Leasure, superintendent of buildings and grounds, submitted his monthly report.

Jaycees To Discuss Christmas Projects

A Community Christmas lighting Contest and the "Kids Christmas Party" will be discussed when the Junior Chamber of Commerce meets at 6:30 p. m. Thursday at the Lape Hotel.

Joseph Kornbau and George Karlis are co-chairmen of the evening's program.

Waterworks Clerk Job Examination Wednesday

Twenty-two persons have taken out applications for the civil service commission examination Wednesday evening for appointment to a clerkship in the city waterworks department.

Self Defense, How's That Again, Please?

TOLEDO, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Harry Marinski awaited sentence today on a common pleas court conviction that he knocked his mother-in-law unconscious during a family argument.

Marinski, who weighs 180 pounds, told Judge John M. McCabe at a hearing:

"Your honor, it was self-defense."

The mother-in-law, Mrs. Hazel Tipping, weighs 100 pounds.

New York Water Consumption Drops

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Drought-stricken New York City's consumption of water has dropped by 75,000,000 gallons a day since the week ended Oct. 8.

The figure was announced yesterday by Water Commissioner Stephen J. Carney.

The city's 8,000,000 residents and its industries used 1,117,000,000 gallons daily last week, compared to 1,192,000,000 gallons nine weeks ago.

The drop was "very encouraging," Carney said, because it indicated substantial public cooperation since his department started its "save water" campaign.

"We still must do much better," he said. "We must cut water usage by 200,000,000 gallons daily if we are to bridge the present emergency."

Long lack of substantial rain, and outgrown reservoir facilities have brought the metropolis face-to-face with the necessity of drastic measures to conserve the dwindling water supply.

Chiang Wanted As President

Li Flies To U. S. As Reds Near Chengtu

CHENG TU, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Clamor for Chiang Kai-Shek to resume presidency of Nationalist China became noisier today as the Reds pushed within 90 miles of Chengtu.

(From Hong Kong, Associated Press Correspondent Wayne Richardson radioed that President Li Tsung-Jen ordered Nationalist officials in Chengtu to carry on—under his orders. Li, flying to the United States for medical treatment, said he would "telegraph" instructions and would return within a month.)

Meantime, the war situation was worsening. One Red force, striking along the main highway from recently deserted Chungking, approached Neichiang, 90 miles southeast of Chengtu.

Another thrust along a more northerly highway towards Suining, 90 miles east of Chengtu.

(A broadcast from the Communists' Peiping radio said the Reds captured Yungning, a stronghold in southern Kwangsi province. Yungning is only 90 miles from the Indochina border. It was the provisional capital and headquarters of Nationalist Gen. Pai Chong-Shi.)

(Hong Kong newspapers said provincial army units mutinied at Yuki, 30 miles south of Kunming. Their strength was not given.)

Travelers said inhabitants of towns and villages in the path of the Red drive were in a ferment of excitement and fear.

Chest Group Names New Board Member

Eugene Young was elected the ninth director of the board of the Salem Community Chest Association at a meeting at noon Monday in the Lape Hotel.

Young will serve as assistant to Stephen Gonda, chairman of the fund drive, in 1950.

To fill Young's vacancy on the regular director's panel, Clifford Zimmerman was elected for a three-year term.

Harold F. Wyckoff was named chairman of the board; Charles Haldi, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, secretary, and E. M. Stephenson, treasurer.

Other directors on the board are Andrew MacLeod and L. H. Colley, who were elected last week; John Hochadel and Walter Deming.

Ex-Major Says Leak Halted By Dismantling

Plane Flown To Reds
From Capital; Wallace
Linked In Stories

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Former Air Force Major George Racey Jordan said today a plane with secret Army radar equipment sought by Russia reached the Soviet Union after taking off from Washington, D. C., in the war.

Jordan told a news conference the plane's trip to Russia followed his successful efforts to block attempts of the Russians to obtain the radar equipment by ripping it out of four planes at the Great Falls, Mont., air base.

The former Air Force officer touched off an investigation of secret material allegedly obtained by the Soviets in a broadcast last Friday.

He charged that the Soviets obtained uranium products in the war and repeated the accusation before a congressional committee yesterday. Uranium is used in making atomic bombs.

Big Names Pop Up

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The house un-American activities committee eyed former Vice President Henry A. Wallace and many others today in a suddenly revived hunt for people who pushed wartime uranium shipments to Russia.

Wallace commented that a statement that he was involved is false, and a part of "an unremitting effort to tarnish the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Chairman Wood (D-Ga) promised there "isn't going to be any avenue left untouched" as the house committee digs into the story that persons in high places helped Russia get uranium and atomic information.

For the sake of the American people, Wood told reporters, "the story must either be corroborated or disproved."

Much of it is old, particularly the part about several shipments of uranium compounds to Russia back in 1943, by way of Great Falls, Mont., and the Alaskan air route.

But now big names are being brought into it:

Wallace, who was fired from the cabinet by President Truman for siding too much with Russia on international policy, and Harry L. Hopkins, the late intimate and adviser of President Roosevelt.

And tomorrow Wood's committee will question Gen. Leslie Groves, retired, who ran the wartime atom bomb project. Committee officials said there may be 40 or 50 additional witnesses. There is no indication yet when Wallace might be called.

Broadcaster Fulton Lewis, Jr., said last night that it was Wallace who "ordered the atomic materials sent to Russia" over Groves' objections.

Wallace Denies
"Sheerest fabrication," Wallace retorted from New York.

Lewis told a reporter Groves was summoned to a committee meeting a year ago, in the middle of the night, and testified secretly that Wallace overruled him on atomic shipments. He said Groves' testimony never was made public.

Committee authorities said it couldn't be—no record was made of it. They didn't deny, though, that Groves had pointed a finger at Wallace.

Groves said in Darien, Conn., he had appeared before the committee many times, once at an evening session, and:

"I don't recall whether Wallace's name was mentioned or not. I wouldn't be surprised if it was."

Groves said he didn't supervise shipments to Russia and didn't have control of every pound of uranium in the United States. Even before the war, he said, a reasonable amount of uranium was used commercially.

Wallace, who doubled as Vice President and chairman of the Board of Economic Warfare, said the BEW "had absolutely nothing to do with any shipments to the Soviet Union." And he said he never had discussed any with President Roosevelt or anybody in the administration.

Shipments to Russia were under Lend-Lease, Wallace said.

"In justice to Harry Hopkins," he said, "I must say that if there were any shipments of uranium abroad, they would have had to have the approval of General Groves."

Santa and the Magician

Chapter 2

HENRY AND MR. DILLY JOIN FORCES

HENRY led Mr. Dilly to a very queer shed of a house at the edge of the town. It looked so rickety you would have thought even a spring breeze would send it tumbling to the ground. As they turned in at the gate a woman with fly-away hair opened the door and swept the porch vigorously.

"Is that your mother?" asked Mr. Dilly.

"Oh, no," said Henry. "I don't have a mother. That is Mrs. Snell. She takes care of me, I guess."

Just then Mrs. Snell caught sight of Henry.

"You! Where have you been? There's work to be done, you know. Get in here and scrub the kitchen and fill the wood box and peel the potatoes." Her voice was dreadfully loud and cross.

Henry said, "I went to a Christmas magic show and this is—"

"Christmas!" cried Mrs. Snell. "Just forget about Christmas. There won't be any Christmas in this house I can tell you—not for boys like you."

"Pardon me," said Mr. Dilly politely. "I am Mr. Dilly the Magician. Henry is bringing me to see his talking duck."

Mrs. Snell's mouth dropped open and she stared at Mr. Dilly unbelievably for a long moment. Then her voice flowed back into her mouth and she cried, "Surely a man as old as you has not been taken in by this foolish story of a talking duck!"

Mr. Dilly looked at Henry as if to say "Have you been fooling me?"

"It's not a story," blurted Henry. "It's true. Serena is in the back yard and she talks to me all the time."

Mrs. Snell burst into laughter. "Not only does the boy do no work, he is silly in the head besides. Why should I have so much trouble?"

"If I could see the duck, perhaps?" suggested Mr. Dilly.

"Yes, come," said Henry quickly. "I keep her in a box out back."

BUT as he started to lead Mr. Dilly around the house Mrs. Snell whooped, "You won't find your duck out back now, young man!"

Henry stopped and looked at Mrs. Snell. His face was suddenly quite pale. "Where is she, then?" he asked.

"I've tied her up in the kitchen," said Mrs. Snell. "I'm going to cook her for dinner."

OUT CAME A SKINNY, DUSTY, ANGRY LOOKING DUCK

Henry gasped. Tears of anger streamed down his cheeks. "I'll never work for you again!" he said.

"Leave me, then!" shouted Mrs. Snell. "But you won't get the duck!" And suddenly she took up her broom and began hitting poor Henry. She swept him off the porch and down the walk and gave him a final swat on his head, as she shoved him through the gate.

For a while the boy was blind with dust and anger and tears. It was quite a few minutes before he realized that he was alone in the road, that Mr. Dilly had left him.

"Now what am I to do?" thought the wretched boy, robbed of his pet, left all alone by his new friend, and thrown out of the only home he had. It seemed to him that the world was a most cruel and friendless place.

It grew dark and as he stumbled along he did not see the man at the turn of the road until he had almost walked into his arms. It was Mr. Dilly.

"What took you so long, boy?" said the Magician. "I began to think I'd have to come back for you."

"Oh, I'm so glad to see you!" said Henry, ready to cry with relief.

Mr. Dilly put his arm around the boy's shoulders. "Son," he said, "How would you like to team up with me and be my helper?"

"You mean—travel with you and put on magic shows?" gasped Henry. That would be great! Except—except—his voice faded away.

"Except what?" prodded Mr. Dilly gently.

"Except for my duck," whispered Henry. "I can't bear to leave Serena for Mrs. Snell to eat."

"If that is all that's worrying you, you can forget it," said Mr. Dilly. And he reached in his pocket and pulled out a skinny, dusty, angry-looking duck.

"Why—it's Serena!" cried Henry.

Next: Mr. Dilly Goes to School.

Arming Germany Hit By Press

W. German Papers Say Allies Force Plan

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 6—(AP)—The West German press accused the Western powers today of trying to revive German militarism with a "cannon fodder" army.

The newspapers claimed the West wants an army of German "mercenaries" as a bulwark against the Russians.

But nobody has asked the Germans whether they want an army, the newspapers said, contending that the German people are overwhelmingly opposed to German rearmament.

Although Western Allied officials have announced publicly there are no present plans for rebuilding a German army, persistent reports have circulated that Western military leaders favors such a step.

Yesterday a spokesman for West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said the Bonn government would agree under certain circumstances to form an army. But the spokesman declared the West German republic was not taking the initiative in proposing such a military move.

The spokesman said Adenauer was "fundamentally" against German rearmament because she needs her whole power for civilization reconstruction. He added that if the Western allies insisted, however, Western Germany would be willing to raise an army equipped by the United States—to serve as part of a European army under a combined European command.

Council For Perry Township Convenes

H. G. Gibson was discussion leader for a meeting of the Perry Township Advisory Council Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Galen Greenstein, Depot rd. "Health and Keeping Alive Longer" was the topic.

The discussion revealed that today farm folk live on an average of 10 years longer than they did in 1900. This they attribute to better doctors, trained nurses and better medications.

The group believes that much can be done for health improvement if each individual keeps up his own health. One of the needs discussed was for more school lunch and nutrition centers.

Lunch was served to 18 members by the hosts.

Hollywood Bid Gets 'No' From The Shah

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6—(AP)—Perhaps a cat can look at a king, but Hollywood got no such chance with the Shah of Iran.

The Shah declined to visit a movie studio yesterday.

Instead he eagerly inspected nuts, bolts and crankshafts at an aircraft factory.

His failure to watch Hollywood at work was unique. Even the great among visitors usually want to see a set or meet the stars. Studios continually are fighting off lesser guests.

Now, for once, filmdom knows what it's like to be passed by.

Advisers to the 30-year-old Mohammed Reza Shah Pahlavi, explained, with diplomatic care, that his imperial majesty's regretful refusal doesn't mean he isn't interested in motion pictures. On the contrary.

But, they said, throughout his current American tour the Shah has consistently declined all unscheduled invitations. He has had scores of these and to accept an invitation to a studio the spokesman said, might offend some of those he had disappointed.

Cancer Screening Urged For All

CLEVELAND, Dec. 6—(AP)—Three Johns Hopkins University doctors want everybody examined for stomach cancer.

The doctors, all of the Baltimore school's department of radiology, made the proposal at the 35th annual meeting of the Radiological Society of North America, Inc. The meeting ends Friday.

Drs. John F. Roach, Robert D. Sloan and Russell H. Morgan, who deal in radiant energy and its uses, suggested the screening be done by pictures.

Gastric photofluorographic methods, or taking pictures by causing the stomach to light up, would be used.

Dr. Roach, in a paper joined in by the other two doctors, said the filming would be a simple process. He said there is no pain or discomfort other than the patient's swallowing of barium. The patient would have to take off his coat. Costs would be low.

He said the patient must be brought in to the surgeon while still curable if any real progress is to be made in treating stomach cancers. Mass screening will help find the diseases before they show symptoms, the radiologist declared.

Beats Santa, But Presents Burn

CHESTER, Pa., Dec. 6—(AP)—For weeks Daniel Clemens and his wife, Helen, bought Christmas presents for their five children and hid them in a bedroom closet.

Yesterday, one of the children, four-year-old Ronald, went scouting through the house—trying to find out what Santa Claus was planning for him.

Suddenly, the child ran from the house to his mother as she was hanging out some clothes in the back yard.

"Fire, mommy," screamed Ronald.

Mrs. Clemens summoned firemen who extinguished a blaze in the bedroom closet where the Christmas presents had been stored. The presents, however, were a total loss.

The mother told firemen she believed Ronald started the fire accidentally as he lit a match to look into the darkened closet.

Carbon-Monoxide Fumes Felled Barberton Men

BARBERTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—A special committee of investigators reported last night that carbon monoxide and unknown lung-irritating gases felled 29 of the 31 Barberton firemen who fought a downtown blaze Thursday night.

Carbon monoxide was discovered in the blood of the stricken men, said Frederick S. Mallette, Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. toxicologist who headed the committee. He said composition of the other fumes could not be determined.

All the firemen recovered.

Douglass Wants Church Merger

Home Mission Official Sees Unity Vital

MARIETTA, Dec. 6—(AP)—Immediate merger of Protestant churches is asked by Dr. Truman B. Douglass, executive vice president of the Board of Home Missions, Congregational Christian churches.

"It becomes clearer every day," writes Dr. Douglass in the current issue of Woman's Home Companion, "that differences of opinion and interpretation must not be allowed to perpetuate disunity."

Dr. Douglass, a trustee of Marietta college, asked "an immediate and effective merger of Protestant forces in the United States" before competing rivalries of the 250 denominations weakens effectiveness of them all.

He wrote, "So long as different denominations exist, each will try to justify its existence by showing how it is distinguished from all others."

Sen. Taft Addresses Home Builders Group

DAYTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Ohio Home Builders Association last night elected Ivan H. Gore of Columbus as its president.

Other officers are Peter D. Kleist, of Cleveland, vice president; Joseph Roberts of Cincinnati, treasurer; and A. B. Stanberry, of Toledo, secretary. Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) told the builders that "housing for those at the bottom level is not socialism" in urging a "proper and adequate housing program."

"About 500,000 homes a year are needed to meet the barest demands for new families," he continued. "The housing program is an outgrowth of the war and undoubtedly will continue for some years."

Turning Point

Eight years after Pearl Harbor, the intent and result of that historic blunder are clearer than at any time since 1941.

The Japanese government, a military dictatorship, had convinced itself by wishful thinking that it would drive the United States out of the Pacific ocean and expose this country's Pacific coastline to Japan's own sea and air power. It was almost right.

The United States government, also through wishful thinking, had persuaded itself that Japan wouldn't try to do this—or that if it did try it would be devious and subtle, striking first at some point along the coastline of Asia.

The impact of Pearl Harbor was tremendous. It caused the United States to exceed even its own expectations as a military power. It caused the downfall of the most powerful military alliance of the 20th century. But most important of all, it ended the military enchantment of the United States.

From the American Revolution to the instant before Pearl Harbor, the government and most of the American people believed in good faith as the basis of understanding between nations. They believed that war could be evaluated by logic. They believed that it could be outlawed by resolution; that peace could be preserved by good intentions and "gestures with an empty gun."

For better or worse, Pearl Harbor changed all that. It brought about the permanent disenchantment of Americans, ranging from the commander in chief in the White House to the enlisted sailors whose corpses still lie in the capsized hull of the battleship Arizona. No one believes any longer that war can be outlawed by resolution, or that peace can be preserved with an empty gun.

Back To Football

Harvard university's declaration of football policy has done more for the game than anything since the forward pass.

For once, an educational institution fed up with the grief and complications of trying to keep up with win-at-any-price football has not rushed from one extreme to another.

There's nothing new about Harvard's decision to restore football to its original status of a game, not an occupation. But because the decision is made by Harvard, it reflects that great university's prestige.

Other institutions have had de-emphasis programs. Harvard, however, has chosen what might be called an emphasis program, but putting the emphasis where it belongs—on football played by its bona fide students with bona fide students from other universities.

Th pattern of a sensible solution for the pigskin problem emerges. It will find football at the college level divided into two categories—football as played by amateurs against amateurs and football played by semi-professionals against other teams of semi-professionals.

Both categories will have their followers. But there will come to be a clear distinction between them.

And for the comfort of those who contend that the amateur kind will have no appeal, this is a rash prediction that in 10 years universities will have abandoned the semi-professional football player to full-time professionals, who know how to handle the problems he presents.

30 Years Too Late

Dr. Anker Baarregaard—and we hope our friends the printers don't leave any cavities in the spelling—left a research laboratory in Cleveland the other day to examine the teeth of Eskimos in Greenland. We will look for cavities, in the hope he may learn why Eskimos almost never have them while they stick to their primitive diet of seal meat, fish and birds.

Dr. Baarregaard is a Dane. His specialty in dentistry is the mystery of tooth decay, which is almost a universal curse. Before coming to Cleveland a year ago for special research, he had spent six years studying tooth decay among Eskimos. He thinks the answer is going to be found there—in some peculiarity of the primitive Eskimo diet.

This is to wish him luck. Within the last few weeks, giant strides have been made toward taking the misery out of the common cold. If giant strides can be made toward taking the misery out of teeth, this will begin to look like the best of all possible worlds, even though it may come 30 years too late for most of us.

Read Anything in It, Gentlemen?

The Long and Short of It

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON
TO FIND various ways of making life long and better and short and awful, the government is spending almost $1½ billion this year on scientific research.

The work ranges all the way from work on cancer and heart and synthetic rubber to atomic energy for better bombs and weapons for the Army, Navy and Air Force.

The military forces are getting more than half the money being spent on research.

In a talk to a group of scientists, John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman, told some of the story. He said:

"The importance of science to our national life has been dramatized for all Americans by the atom bomb and the tremendous potentialities of atomic power, but on a thousand less publicized fronts the researcher and the technician are working together in the search for truth."

"As the President said . . . the knowledge that we now have is but a fraction of the knowledge that we must get, whether for peaceful purposes or national defense."

THE GOVERNMENT'S budget for scientific research this year

totals $1,380,000,000. It breaks down this way, with a brief explanation for each field:

Atomic energy $320,000,000 . . . this includes benefits to medicine and other fields of life, besides the bomb.

Federal Security Administration, $42,000,000 . . . this goes into research for public health, including cancer, heart disease, infantile paralysis.

General Services Administration, $31,000,000 . . . this includes building laboratories for other agencies.

National advisory committee on aviation, $70,000,000 . . . this committee is made up of civilians and military men. Almost all of this work is being done in government laboratories.

Tennessee Valley Authority, $24,000,000 . . . this includes development of fertilizer.

Agriculture Department, $55,000,000 . . . this goes into government experiment stations all over the country, livestock, crops.

Commerce Department, $19,000,000 . . . this includes the National Bureau of Standards and the Weather Bureau, better air navigation systems.

National defense, $750,000,000 . . . this includes research on weapons by Army, Navy, Air Force.

Interior Department, $46,000,000 . . . this includes geological surveys in search for minerals.

ALL OTHERS (including Maritime Commission, State Department, Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Veterans Administration), $23,000,000 . . . this ranges from development of cultural relations with other countries, particularly Latin America, to synthetic rubber and the making of artificial limbs for veterans.

About $425,000,000 of the money is being spent in non-government laboratories, going to universities and industry for various purposes. Federal research in colleges and universities is costing about $100,000,000.

Said Steelman: "Federal research funds constitute a substantial portion of the research budget in many institutions, often averaging well over 50 per cent of their entire research budget."

The rest of the $425,000,000 going into non-government laboratories—or about $325,000,000—is being spent in industrial laboratories. So industry is benefited by the program.

In 1929 the total private and governmental spending on research was only about $166,000,000.

Looking Ahead

By George Benson

WE AMERICANS are busy people. We've been busy for a long time. It's in our traditions. And it's in our blood. This urge to be up and at it—this itch to get things done—has had a lot to do with the spectacular accomplishments of this free nation.

Because our appetite for accomplishing has always been sharp, and because America has frowned on anything that would dull initiative and independent action, we are today the richest, the freest, the choicest land on earth.

May it always be so. However, I am sometimes concerned deeply about our success, lest our preoccupation with the doing and achieving and living of all this blind to the "wherefore" of it all. Granted that the majority of Americans recognize freedom of individual opportunity as the big factor that has made this way of life of ours possible, just what are we doing about it? Are we doing what we can to preserve it?

That, in the idiom of the day, is the $64-question! It is plain as day that America can go, in the next generation, just where America's citizens want America to go. Will it be toward socialism and economic slavery, the road to totalitarianism and loss of all freedoms guaranteed in the Constitution and a lower form of living? Or will it be in the direction of even higher standards of living, greater personal liberty, and more individual opportunity?

I suspect it will take more than just wishing, to follow the latter route toward an even greater American destiny. As citizens, we'd better get busy! As to civic duty and responsibility, we have great traditions which we cannot afford to throw overboard.

Deep in the truth that led to the founding of this nation lies the principle that each citizen has a duty to do his part. We depend upon a citizen militia. We have no ruling class, but elect leaders from the citizenry. The electorate itself is charged with responsibility.

Yet, my fellow Americans, we are slow to shoulder up to our places at the wheel—when it comes to doing what we can to help preserve freedom of enterprise. Everybody is for it. Oh, sure. (Even Henry Wallace has claimed respect for free enterprise.) But what counts is performance. What have you done to stop the march of bureaucracy, the growth of big government, for example?

Three times this nation has taken arms to protect herself and other countries against ideas that would mean enslavement. Each time we have emerged triumphant, having tried and hoped to make the idea of democracy of more permanence in the world. We stopped being busy long enough to go to war on the side of freedom. It was not easy, either time.

All right. Here we are, busy again. There's no shooting war, and nobody wants one. But we're just a little too busy to see that it's up to us to have America stay free. From without and within, ideas are being presented that are different from those basic principles upon which our nation was founded. The very halls of Congress now echo with proposals for a welfare state that eventually would reduce America to totalitarianism. How busy are you?

Heavy Literature

By Hal Boyle

IF YOU ARE TRYING to lose weight, don't overlook reading a good big Sunday newspaper.

This is the cheapest and best form of exercise available to modern man.

It not only tones your mind. It takes away sloppiness and replaces it with firm, solid muscle.

Lifting barrels can be dangerous. If one slips and falls it can bury your toes an inch deep in the flooring. Tennis, handball, and bowling are sometimes too strenuous for the middle-age frame. And they are forms of exercise that require taking a journey.

For the home-loving man who wants to keep fit; however, nothing beats reading a king-size Sunday newspaper. It'll tune you up like a tiger, and you'll wake up Monday morning refreshed and eager for the week's work.

I learned this lesson some 13 years ago. I was feeling weak and run-down. Anything that required energy was anathema.

It chanced that I complained of this lassitude to an elderly acquaintance I met in the New York public library.

"FEEL MY MUSCLES," he said, curling his arm. I did. They were like coiled springs.

"Now feel my stomach." It was like a brick wall. "How do you keep in such fine shape at your age?" I inquired. "Very simple. I read all the Sunday newspapers. That is the finest kind of workout for the muscles." Then he gave a list of exercises and cautioned: "Don't overdo it by trying to lift the paper all at once."

This was unnecessary advice. When I tried to bring in the newspapers the following Sunday, I found I couldn't budge them. I tied a rope around them and dragged them in—with the help of my wife.

At first I could only lift one section at a time. As my biceps thickened I found I could muscle a tabloid paper overhead with one hand. Still working with tabloids I started building up my stomach muscles. My wife, Frances, would pile section after section on my abdomen. At the end of a year I could lie there and take the whole weight of a Sunday New York Times on my tensed stomach—and still breathe.

Two years after I began this systematic exercise I had slimmed down 20 pounds and could hold a Sunday newspaper overhead in each hand. After that I tapered off.

But when ever I found my abdomen getting slack I could quickly renew my strength by a careful workout with the Sabbath press. Now I usually take these exercises only about twice a year.

THE BIG TEST IS ON the Christmas season editions. I passed it this year with flying colors. I started at 9 a. m. weighing 195 pounds on the bathroom scales.

For an hour I loosened up with body press lifts of The Daily News and The New York Mirror, both tabloids. Then I stretched out on the floor and told Frances: "Pile 'em on." She dropped the tabloids on my taut stomach. Then she added The New York Herald Tribune. Next, with the help of a neighbor, she managed to lift the 324-page New York Times and put it on. My stomach sagged toward my backbone, but I cried:

"Now the Manhattan telephone directory."

"I'm afraid," she murmured. "It might kill you."

"No, go ahead," I cried through clenched teeth. She put on the directory. I held the whole mass for a moment, then rolled aside to keep from being crushed as it toppled over. When I got up and stepped on the bathroom scales I weighed 190—five pounds less.

You, too, can be panther strong by following this regimen with the Sunday newspapers. But don't exercise before an open window. They may blow apart and strangle you.

THE STORY OF THE SAVIOR

There was in the days of Herod, King of Judea, a priest named Zacharias. He and his wife, Elisabeth, were childless, she being barren. And they both were old. (Luke 1:5, 6, 7.)

Souls In Anticipation

One day an angel appeared to Zacharias, saying, "Thy wife shall bear thee a son, and thou shalt call his name John. And he shall . . . make ready a people prepared for the Lord." (Luke 1:11, 13, 17.)

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Six months later the same angel (Gabriel) appeared in the town of Nazareth to Elisabeth's young cousin Mary, who was espoused to a man named Joseph. (Luke 1:26, 27.)

THE ANGEL TOLD MARY SHE HAD FOUND FAVOR WITH GOD AND WOULD BRING FORTH A SON WHO WOULD BE CALLED JESUS. "HE SHALL BE GREAT AND SHALL BE CALLED THE SON OF THE HIGHEST." (Luke 1:31, 32.)

The angel told Mary she had found favor with God and would bring forth a son who would be called Jesus. "He shall be great and shall be called the Son of the Highest." (Luke 1:31, 32.)

America's 30-Year War

Churches Stand As Bar To Reds

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON

THE COMMIES have a bright and shining interest in two aspects of American life: The religious and the educational.

The churches know this. So do the bulk of the educators. But at the risk of being monotonous, it must be said that neither the clergy nor the professors have done what might have been done to eliminate the danger. The basic reason for this apathy is a too-general belief that Communism is a foreign problem, no more than a gadfly to the United States.

Considering religion first:

It is true that Communists have not been able to do what the Soviet has done abroad. The U. S. has had no Cardinal Mindszenty, no Archbishop Beran, no group of Protestant ministers like those prosecuted in Bulgaria. Too many men of the cloth consider these as matters far away and dimly seen. It can't happen here.

BUT IF THE STRATEGY could be made perfect, the Communists would attempt to make it happen here. Give the Communist Party (for which read Moscow) control of labor, schools and churches, and the Bill of Rights would cease to be any more than a curiosity.

Russia has demonstrated that religion is to be used for totalitarian ends. After the revolution, the Soviet government seized church properties and persecuted the clergy. Not until World War II, when the need to make men's hearts brave was a most urgent one, did religion in an approximate sense return to Russia. With the peace, the churches were back in the Kremlin, which had learned the value of a spiritual element which would contribute to so magnificent a stand as that at Stalingrad.

The absolute need for complete control of the pulpit is well realized by Stalin, as witness the widespread religious suppression in most of the Iron Curtain nations.

OF ALL AMERICAN churchgoers, Catholics are perhaps the most alert in the war on Communism. Their greater awareness stems from the peculiarity that Bromley Oxnam's claim that Protestantism is the true bulwark against Moscow, the record is not that clear. There are upward of 250 Protestant denominations in the country. They go their separate ways, in anti-Communist endeavor. Were they to be unified, religion would wield a tremendous weapon.

The Jews, save for individual effort, had not been active in anti-Communism generally until March, 1948. Then the American Jewish League Against Communism was formed. Its director, Rabbi Benjamin Schultz, was forced to resign from his Yonkers (N.Y.) congregation because he wrote a series of articles for the New York World-Telegram describing Communist invasion of the churches. He has since devoted his full time to the League's work, and has become one of the country's outstanding authorities on the Red menace.

On the educational front, the fact that schools are under state and local jurisdiction has resulted in disorganized anti-Communist effort. In 1939 the American Youth Congress, since proved to have been Red-dominated, held a huge rally in New York. Although only 4500 members were enrolled in the Young Communist League, which promoted the Congress, the oratory and smoke-screen combined to suck in a thousand times as many gullibles for a front demonstration plugging Communist causes and anti-Hitlerism.

Less than two months after the meeting, the Stalin-Hitler pact was signed, and a great many of the gullibles got off when the Youth Congress reversed its policies. But damage had been more information about European conditions, as they may affect the Western Hemisphere, is available to the Catholic.

Moreover, the organized resistance seems to predate that of other faiths. Immediately after the 1917 revolution, for example, an educational campaign was undertaken by the church in the United States. Schools, the Sunday sermon, books and pamphlets, and, most recently, radio addresses by Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen have been used with considerable effect.

But there was nothing particularly militant about it all, until the Spanish revolution, when Catholics were forced to take a stand. The hierarchy kept hands off on the delicate question of U. S. aid to the Loyalists. But fully 90 per cent of the pro-Franco bloc was Catholic, and it vociferously demanded immediate aid for Franco, while the Communists were whooping it up for the other side.

The second phase of Catholic action came after formation of the CIO. The bishops set up a system of schools to teach Christian trade unionism. From those schools developed the Association of Catholic Trade Unionists, whose work has been sufficiently effective to make Daily Worker editorialists froth at the mouth on occasion.

done. Cells in high schools and colleges, established 10 years ago, are still active in some places; the job of rooting them out is a slow process of teen-age education on Communism's false lures and actual aims.

THERE HAS BEEN a certain amount of purging on some faculties where Communist professors or teachers have been found. It is estimated that 2000 educators at one time or another, have lent their names to, or actively worked for, Commie organizations.

This is about one-fifth of one per cent of the nation's million teachers, but the minuteness of the figure should not suggest a trivial danger. One teacher can convert many students and, perhaps, other teachers around him. On the principle of the rotten apple in the barrel, education will not be safe until all advocates of Communism have been eliminated from the system.

The government is doing what it can on the educational front. John W. Studebaker, former U. S. Commissioner of Education, in 1947, inaugurated an advisory program for institutions with some 32,000,000 students. Named the Zeal for American Democracy program, its aim is to give schools whatever counsel it can on expansion of democratic courses. How much good has been done is impossible to gauge. It is heartening, however, to know that a steady stream of reports and suggestions from institutions all over the land still pours into Washington.

The educators themselves are taking action. Among the organizations that have barred Communists are the National Education Association, with 425,000 members; American Federation of Teachers (AFL); the ultra-liberal New School for Social Research, and others.

It is all guerrilla warfare. And enough of it will turn upon the Communists a weapon they use themselves—constant harassment.

TOMORROW: What two groups, the American Legion and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, are doing in our 30-year war against Communism.

November Job Situation Good

Gains Recorded Even Before Holiday Jumps

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP) be looking up in November—even before the lift that the Christmas sales season usually gives to employment.

New figures from the Census Bureau were welcomed by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer as showing that "the job picture in November was perhaps more favorable than at any previous time this year."

The figures, released by Sawyer late yesterday, showed in brief: 60,954,000 Americans, counting 1,436,000 in the armed forces, had jobs good for one hour a week or more in November, even if some of them weren't actually working because of illness, strikes, vacations, etc.

The 59,518,000 civilian jobs in November represented a gain of 517,000 over October, although the total was 375,000 below November, 1948, when the boom was at its peak.

Furthermore, non-farm employment, up 350,000 in November to a 51,540,000 total, was "back to the 1949 high recorded in the late summer months," the Census Bureau said. It added that November "recovered the losses" caused by the October steel and coal strikes.

Unemployment dropped 167,000 in November to a total of 3,409,000 although it was fairly near double the 1,831,000 total of boomtime November, 1948.

The farm picture gave an unusual boost to the November employment total by showing a 168,000 climb in November, usually a month when farm work is declining.

The cause: good weather.

The kennel owner found Sandra, above with Tam-O-Shanter, through a letter to a newspaper.

During the past year the congregation has installed a Hammond organ and redecorated the church. Money for this project was raised by free-will offerings. Dec. 25 the Sunday school will elect its new officers.

Local Travel Service To Halt Operations

Travel Service, Inc., with offices in the Lape Hotel, will discontinue operations at the Salem branch tomorrow after 10 months of servicing area travel reservations and information requests.

After a busy summer the lack of business during the fall and winter caused the close of the service which maintains main offices in New York City.

Richard Unger, who has been in charge of the branch here, today said he would finish pending commitments within a week and then transfer to New York.

Weather Details

(International News Service)

When their barometers start climbing tomorrow night Ohioans will be able to chart the approach of a low pressure area which is in Iowa today.

"If the stormy center of the pressure area does hit Ohio," Weatherman C. G. Andrus said today, "neither the cold preceding it nor the warmth it leaves in its wake will be extreme."

The increasing cloudiness and mild weather predicted for today will be followed by scattered light rains tonight and probably snow flurries in northern portions of the state Wednesday.

"The mercury won't drop below the mid-thirties tonight," Forecaster Andrus continued, "and there'll be some sunshine tomorrow to temper the winds that are scheduled to cover the south and west sections of the state."

The weather bureau's five-day forecast follows:

"Temperatures will average three to four degrees below normal. A little warmer in southeast portions Wednesday. Rather cold Thursday and Friday but milder Friday night and Saturday followed by colder Sunday. Snow near Great Lakes Thursday. Rain or snow again Friday night or Saturday. Total precipitation about one-fourth of an inch."

It's an invincible "8"-that great Lincoln engine!

WHEN early performance reports from Lincoln owners first reached our ears, we were frankly skeptical.

For in the first few weeks, every new car owner thinks his new car is the very finest car there is.

Yet, month after month, the praise pours in about the great new Lincoln engine.

"It is capable," owners state, "of the smoothest performance on the road!" To which statement we heartily agree.

For we have yet to see the new automobile—at any price—that can stand up to Lincoln on the highway.

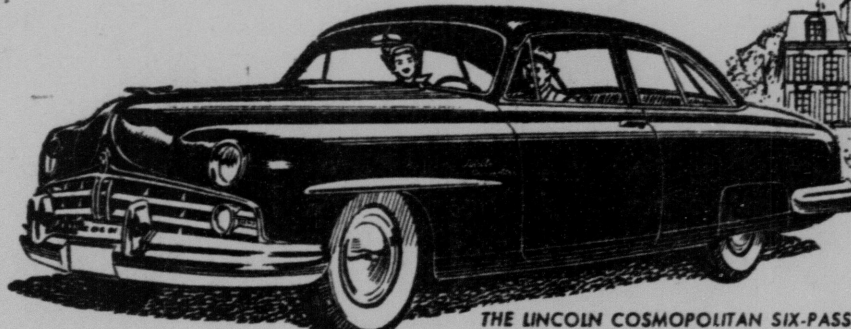

Literally, the great new Lincoln engine—with the automatic responsiveness of HYDRA-MATIC®—is an invincible "8"—and not merely for sheer stamina alone. For dependability and economy, too, it is again in a class by itself.

Why not try a new Lincoln or Lincoln Cosmopolitan today?

Hospital Bond Issue Asked In Alliance

ALLIANCE, Dec. 6—City council Monday night adopted a resolution calling for a special election Tuesday, Jan. 1, to submit a $150,000 bond issue to the electorate to enable the city to obtain federal aid for new hospital improvements.

In passing the resolution, Councilman Nick Trombitas said this amount would aid the hospital trustees in obtaining aid to build a 165-bed $1,575,000 hospital.

Alliance voters in the May primaries of 1947 voted a hospital improvement program of $700,000.

With high building costs and shortages of material the building program was not started. Alliance must have local funds amounting to $1,050,000 to get $525,000 in federal aid. Contracts must be awarded by July 1.

Mrs. Albaugh Named Home Lodge Leader

MRS. WALTER ALBAUGH will head Home Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah, next year as noble grand. She succeeds Mrs. Charles Bailey.

Mrs. Mary Gross will serve as vice grand; Mrs. Balfour Dixon, recording secretary; Mrs. Ray Pearce, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Hoskins, financial secretary; Mrs. Philip Rhodes, captain of the degree staff, and Mrs. Matt Melitschka, deputy president.

The election was held at the meeting of Home Lodge members Friday evening in IOOF hall.

Mrs. Bailey was hostess to lodge associates at a beautifully appointed Christmas party following the business session.

Huge red candles and groupings of smaller red candles outlined the U-shaped tables covered with white crepe paper. Pointsettias also were used effectively in contrast.

Bookmarks, hand crocheted by Mrs. A. H. Schropp, were given by Mrs. Bailey to each guest seated at the tables. In the shape of a cross, the markers were made in the lodge colors of pink and green.

Gifts will be exchanged at the Christmas party Dec. 16. Wives or husbands of Rebekah's and Odd Fellows are invited, as well as all branches of the order. Each Rebekah will bring a package of sandwiches for refreshments.

CUT-OUT COOKIES—These Christmas molasses cookies.

The Cookbook

By GAYNOR MADDOX

It's Time For Cut-Out Cookies

WITH molasses, eggs and cooking fat all on the plentiful list and with the Christmas season just beginning, this certainly is cookie-making time.

Let's begin with molasses cut-out cookies, using this tested recipe and cut out stars, angels, Christmas trees, etc., or some of the new plastic cookie forms.

To save time and fuel, use two baking sheets with low sides or no sides at all to insure even browning—each about 2 inches smaller than the oven. One sheet of cookies can be baking while the other one is being filled.

Before rolling, chill dough in refrigerator to permit handling of dough without adding more flour. When rolling, work with half or less of the dough at a time, keeping remainder in refrigerator until needed. Flour rolling pin and board lightly—only enough to keep dough from sticking.

Dip cutter in flour each time to prevent sticking. Cut cookie shapes close together, to get as many as possible from the first rolling of the dough; rerolled dough does not make as tender cookies. Using a spatula, carefully lift the cut cookies from board to baking sheet.

Adjust oven to temperature specified. Molasses cookies burn easily. If cookies are not brown enough in center, yet done around edges, put them about 5 to 6 inches below broiler flame until right color is obtained—watching constantly.

Remove from baking sheet with a spatula; place them to cool on a wire cake rack in a single layer.

When completely cooled, pack in air-tight boxes or in cookie jar, with waxed paper between the layers. Keep tightly covered.

For Christmas gifts, pack in flat boxes and wrap each cookie in aluminum foil or waxed paper and fill box with shredded colored paper or cellophane.

Molasses Cut-Out Cookies

One-half cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, 2/3 cup New Orleans type molasses, 1 egg, 2 ¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 ½ teaspoons allspice.

Slowly melt shortening; cool. Add sugar, molasses and eggs; beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and allspice; add to first mixture; mix well. Roll in waxed paper; chill. Cookies hold shape better if rolled and cut on greased and lightly floured baking sheet instead of rolling on a board and transferring to baking sheet. Roll dough evenly ¼-inch thick.

Dust cut-out cookie pattern lightly with flour to prevent sticking; lay pattern on dough and cut around pattern with knife. Lift excess dough from around cookie shapes. Decorate with red cinnamon drops, silver candies, and vari-colored candy sprinkles.

Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from baking sheet immediately and cool on rack.

Divorce Granted; Argument Unsettled

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6—(AP)—Shirley Temple won a divorce by testifying that John Agar drank too much, played around with other women and almost drove her to suicide. But the handsome actor declines to discuss the case publicly.

The famous child star, now 21, won an interlocutory decree yesterday. It becomes final in a year.

The 28-year-old former Air Force sergeant did not contest the divorce. Reached backstage at a Buffalo, N. Y., theater where he is appearing in a show, Agar said last night:

"As usual, there are two sides to a controversy. Shirley's testimony, as reported to me, reflects incorrectly our real differences. The court ordered Agar to pay $100 a month support for their child, Linda Susan, 22 months old, and awarded her custody to the actress.

Agar agreed to invest his half of community property in a trust fund for their child.

Doctors Face Dues Payments

AMA Will Raise Fund To Fight Socialization

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Most of the nation's doctors to-day faced the prospect of a regular "dues" payment—just like a union or fraternal organization—to fight what the American Medical Association terms "socialized medicine."

The house of delegates, policy-making body of the AMA, arranged hearings on a proposal for the "mechanics" of such a system. Under it, some 150,000 of the country's doctors would be regularly billed for payments to the organization's treasury. The house of delegates is having a meeting here this week.

Up to now, AMA officials, say the organization's funds have been limited.

At last June's annual meeting of the AMA, the house of delegates approved a system of dues-payment, and referred it to a board of trustees to work out details.

Dr. Francis Borzell of Philadelphia, speaker of the house of delegates, told a reporter such a system would provide "funds to carry on an educational campaign to acquaint the American people with our concept of good medical practice."

Timken Attempts Settlement Today

CANTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—In another attempt to end a 33-day strike at Timken Roller Bearing Co., union and company officials meet today to discuss a "Bethlehem type" pension plan.

The plan is Timken's latest offer to its 10,000 CIO-United Steelworkers. Benefits were described by the firm's labor relations chief, G. H. Turner, as identical to those of the Bethlehem steel formula.

This program, which ended the strike in basic steel, provides $100 minimum monthly pensions, including federal old age benefits, to workers with 25 years service at the age of 65. Workers with less years with the company receive correspondingly less.

Last night an 11-man union negotiating committee studied the pension offer. The union struck for Bethlehem pensions Nov. 4 at plants in Columbus, Zanesville, Mount Vernon, Wooster and Canton.

Mother Sure Son 'Good' After 18½ Years

CLEVELAND, Dec. 6—(AP)—The last time Marian Pool, 37, had seen her son he was six months old. When she saw him again, he was 19 and on trial for murdering his foster-mother.

But after she came from her home in Safety Harbor, Fla., to see young James Nairy in court yesterday, the mother embraced Nairy and said:

"He is a good boy. I can tell that just by looking at him. I am proud of him. I think when all the facts are known, he will be treated kindly."

Nairy is charged with the first degree murder of Mrs. Iva M. Nairy, 56, at their suburban Fairview Park home last October. The Nairys adopted him.

Bricker Censured For 'Unification' Proposal

CLEVELAND, Dec. 6—(AP)—Senator John W. Bricker's proposal for a new political party last night drew the censure of Cleveland's Republican councilmen.

Recently Bricker (R-Ohio) suggested that conservative Republicans and Southern Democrats with similar ideas unite against President Truman's "Fair Deal."

A resolution censuring Bricker was passed unanimously by the councilmen in caucus. A resolution demanding Bricker's expulsion from the Republican party was first proposed, but it was toned down, the councilmen said.

How European Defense Pact Will Work —

Although details of the western European defense plan agreed upon by Atlantic Pact nations are naturally "top secret," the steps illustrated below are considered basic in halting any aggression from the Soviet-controlled east.

Board Discusses Garbage Hauling

Dr. Holzbach Asks City Paid System

Improvements in garbage collection in Salem was discussed at the recent Board of Health meeting.

E. J. Kesselmir, sanitary officer, said that he has called a meeting of the five firms presently collecting garbage in the city, to be held soon.

He told them they would have to improve their system and equipment if they are going to collect garbage in the city during 1950.

Dr. R. T. Holzbach, health commissioner, reported he had sent a letter to city council suggesting the establishment of a tax-paid city garbage collection system. He wrote in his letter:

"The collection of garbage as it is now practiced in the city of Salem, that is, on a fee basis for collection, will never be satisfactory. The collectors have not sufficient income to warrant purchasing first-class equipment; and all equipment must be some type of makeshift arrangement."

"The collection of garbage in Salem will never be satisfactory until a special department, paid by taxation and under the direction of the service director, is established. This system is used in cities similar to the size of Salem. All large cities have a garbage collection system maintained by the city, and mandatory."

"This was thoroughly discussed recently at a meeting of the Civic committee of the various service organizations. This is the only way a city can be kept clean and progressive. The collection of refuse and garbage is just as important to a city as the collection of sewage and the distribution of water."

The sanitary officer reported $138 collected for plumbing inspections, $56 received for food-handling establishments' inspection, 31 complaint calls, 12 plumbing information stops, three dog quarantines and four farm calls. He also reported a survey of the smoke nuisances of Salem plants, revealing that the people he has consulted around these plants state the conditions are improving.

Anemia Reflects Body's Condition

THE blood contains small round disks called red blood cells, or erythrocytes. Normally, there are about 5,000,000 of these cells in each cubic millimeter of blood. (There are more than 16,000 cubic millimeters in a cubic inch.) These cells contain a red coloring matter—hemoglobin—which carries oxygen to the tissues and which is necessary for life. When there are too few red blood cells or not enough hemoglobin to condition is called "anemia."

Dr. Jordan

When a person loses more blood than the system can replace, anemia develops. If sudden, as from a wound, the difficulty can be remedied promptly by stopping the hemorrhage and giving a blood transfusion.

If hemorrhage is slow, it is necessary to find where the bleeding comes from and to stop it if possible. If this kind of anemia is severe, it may be necessary to give transfusions or take other measures, including the use of iron preparations, iron being an important part of hemoglobin.

Often the cause can be remedied and the anemia is then likely to clear up. If it comes from a poor diet giving an adequate diet alone is generally enough. One kind of anemia comes particularly, but not exclusively, in women between 30 and 50 years of age. The cause of this anemia is a deficiency of iron due to several things, probably including defective diet and poor absorption due to disturbance of the stomach and intestines. This causes a feeling of weakness, shortness of breath, nervous disturbances, dry hair, sore tongue and paleness.

Failure of the organs which make the blood may produce anemia. This difficulty lies principally in the bone marrow and is similar to the form of anemia which comes from certain poisons.

Charity Boxing To Jam Cleveland Arena

Two Ex-Champs Highlight Card

Saddler, Graziano Lead Press Toy Show

CLEVELAND, Dec. 6—(AP)—A sellout crowd of 14,000 is expected to pack Cleveland Arena tonight to see two former world champion fighters—Rocky Graziano and Sandy Saddler—throw punches in a charity show.

Matchmaker Ed Bang estimates a gate of $80,000 plus will go to the 24th annual Cleveland News Toyshop fund and the fighters from the bouts. Bang is News sports columnist.

Graziano is matched for the third time with Niles, O.—bred George (Sonny) Horne. The fight games bad boy has decided Horne twice, one decision being hotly contested. The fight is a scheduled ten-round.

Rocky, who weighed in at 160, won the middleweight crown by flooring Tony Zale. The former steelworker later turned the tables on The Rock via his own KO. Horne weighs about 162.

Another feature ten-round bout will be between ex-world featherweight champ Sandy Saddler and Orlando Zulueta, a Cuban 130-pounder.

The victor will be National Boxing association junior lightweight champion, a title now vacant.

Ten-round projects also are in store for light heavyweights Dick Wagner of Portland, Ore., and Cleveland Chuck Hunter and featherweights Eddie Marotta of Cleveland and Lino (Bulldog) Garcia, a Cuban.

Light heavyweights Earl Sabotin of Warren, and Canadian Leo Pietros will toss leather in a five-round.

Watching the workouts here yesterday was Joe Maxim. Maxim, currently rated the American light heavyweight title holder, will try to dethrone Freddie Mills of England, who holds the world's championship, in London, Dec. 19.

Matchmaker Bang disclosed that a 28-year-old who preferred to remain anonymous offered to give his life savings of $1,969.63 for one ticket to the fight.

Bang said the man, a twice-wounded war veteran, told him: "I am not married, don't drive a car . . . and have been sort of taking it easy since my release from the Army last April."

Bang quoted the Cleveland as saying he had no particular use for the money and thought the toyshop fund a worthy cause, adding he had "never seen a boxing match in my life."

The columnist said he invited the man to be his guest at ring-side but would not accept such a large sum, suggesting that he give it to some other charity.

The veteran insisted on giving him at least $69.63, anyhow, Bang asserted, the last four figures in his bank balance.

NBA May Put Curb On Big Pivot Men

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—In an effort to pep up the game with action-filled games, the National Basketball association may put a curb on the loop's big men.

Alarmed over the mounting number of fouls called in NBA contests, the pro league's executive board has recommended an experimental try at doubling the width of the foul lanes from six feet to 12 feet, for a one month period, from Dec. 15 to Jan. 15.

Maurice Podoloff, president of the NBA, said the loop's six-man executive board unanimously recommended the rule change.

He said the recommendations were airmailed to the circuit's 17-man board of governors for approval.

The rule would call for widening the free throw lanes from the present six feet to 12 feet, so that the lines bounding the free throw lane shall terminate at the extremities of the free throw line.

This rule, incidentally, already is in effect for international amateur play and will be employed at the 1952 Olympic games.

It hits the big man by forcing him out another three feet on each side for pivot shots.

X-Ray Reveals Break In Bill Willis' Hand

CLEVELAND, Dec. 6—(AP)—An X-ray picture revealed yesterday that Guard Bill Willis of the Cleveland Browns has a partly broken bone in his right hand.

Willis hurt his hand in the game against the Buffalo Bills Sunday, and team physicians said last night they do not know whether he will be able to play against the San Francisco 49ers for the league title next Sunday.

Washington allowed Detroit one hit in winning 6-3, but it took four pitchers to hurl the one-hitter.

MEMORY LANE—Owner-coach George Halas holds up Bill Hewitt's 56 and Bronko Nagurski's 3, while Red Grange wears the 77 he made famous at Illinois and in the National Football league. The Chicago Bears have retired jerseys of the three most outstanding players in the Bears' 30-year professional history.

Coaches Debate New Rule Changes On Possession

NEW YORK—(NEA)—As the colleges step more boldly into the basketball season there is mounting interest in the controversial rule change awarding both the free throw and possession to a team fouled in the last two minutes.

The change has not yet been adequately tested. It will not be until some close games develop, but already the coaches are lining up for and against it.

A split in New York finds Nat Holman of City College opposing the change on the assumption that it will prove drastically unfair to the team that is behind.

Frank McGuire of Brooklyn St. John's, on the other hand, is strongly in favor of the change because he feels it will eliminate heated second-guessing by fans.

Involving more than one rule, the change is too lengthy to be stated verbatim, but here is the way it is phrased in an explanatory preface to the rule book:

"Personal fouls that occur during the last two minutes of the second half, and of extra periods of 40-minute games . . . are to be penalized in the same way as technical fouls; that is, the free throw or throws must be taken, and whether made or missed, the ball is to be put in play by a throw-in at mid-court by any player of the free-thrower's team."

Comments Holman: "You might just as well end the game after 38 minutes, because under this rule the team that leads in the last two minutes cannot lose."

"It will always have the ball," McGuire doesn't agree.

"It is possible for the team that is ahead to commit a foul," he points out. "That's just what happened at St. John's the first time the rule was called this season. We were leading, and we had the ball, but one of our players was charged with a pick."

"The other team, Arnold, made the foul and followed it with a basket."

Before the change went into effect the team that was fouled had the option of shooting the free throw or taking the ball at mid-court. In many a close game the coach was criticized because he did, or did not, waive a foul at a crucial point.

"This change takes the coach off a terrific spot," McGuire says. "More than once I've sat on that bench at the Garden and taken some awful abuse from the fans behind me for waiving or not waiving. This way you can't waive in the last two minutes, and I think the better club will win more often as a result."

The new counter rule is designed to prevent stalling. It specifies that a held ball shall be called "when a closely guarded player is holding the ball in his front court and is not making a reasonable effort to dribble, pass or throw for goal, but is apparently trying to consume time."

Some other collegiate rule changes:

In cases of a jump ball, the coach is no longer permitted to send in a tall substitute to control the tap. The man involved in the play must jump himself unless he is injured.

Glass backboards are now regulation, although the rules committee recognizes that it would be impractical to have them installed right away. The rule says that when new backboards are installed they must be transparent.

Basket rings and attaching flanges and braces shall be bright orange.

5 Hunters Arrested By Game Warden

Five men were arrested over the weekend for game violations, Earl Ressler, Mahoning County game warden, reported today.

Noble Wansetler, 56, of Youngstown, William Thomich, 28, of R. D. 1, North Jackson, and Robert Waller and Frank Pelaranda of R. D. 1, Canfield pleaded guilty and were fined $20 and costs for hunting on Sunday by Justice of the Peace Harry A. Walker of Canfield.

They were arrested by Ressler at 10 p. m. Sunday while hunting on the William Winans farm in Ellsworth township.

Earl Osborne, 58, of R. D. 2, Canfield, was fined $15 and costs by Walker after being arrested Saturday by Game Warden Elwood Ressler for hunting rabbits before 9 a. m. in Austintown Township.

Bowling Green Plays Two Teams Per Night

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—(AP)—Bowling Green isn't losing any time in trying to better its excellent basketball record of last season.

The Ohio quintet is taking on early-season opponents two at a clip. Last night the Falcons won their second doubleheader of the year, 73-41, over Gustavus Adolphus and 72-39 over Bluffton.

But Bowling Green has a real test coming up at Western Kentucky Thursday. The Hilltops stopped Kentucky Wesleyan last night, 89-45.

A Rose Bowl-bound football player helped out in Ohio State's 82-53 rout of Marquette. Dick Schnittker, a football end and sometime - basketball forward, dropped in 33 points to break his own Buckeye scoring mark of 32.

Class A Play In City Begins

Five Games Open Slate On Memorial Boards

Action began Monday night in the city Class A basketball loop at the Memorial building with teams playing more or less according to form.

Mullins, the defending champs disposed of Town Talk by a 25-18 score. Norm Smith piled in seven points to show the way. Emch was just as good for the losers, with seven.

The N Club, a new outfit, clobbered Demings 32-22 for a decisive win. Shoff notched 12 points for the winners, and Wayne Hahn and Dick Boughton each collected seven for Demings.

Fisher News went down 20-16 before the National Sanitary five in a low scoring contest. Eddie Bozich, Knobby Greene were high with five points apiece.

The biggest margin of the night was in the Amvet 1—Bliss game which went to the Amvets 35-20. Johnny Pridon rattled the hoop for 15 tallies, the best show of the night.

In the fifth game, the Amvet 2 team dropped the Leetonia Legion 28-22, with Torch Nedelka connecting for 10 counters, eight of them on free throws.

Play in Class A will not be resumed until Thursday night.

Waitkus Is Awarded Achievement Plaque

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6—(AP)—Eddie Waitkus, Philadelphia Philly first baseman who was shot last season by a woman in Chicago, today was awarded the "achievement plaque" of the National Baseball Congress.

The award is for the outstanding major league player to graduate from the Amateur diamonds of the Congress. The 1948 winner was Satchel Paige, the ageless Cleveland Indian hurler.

Waitkus was hitting .306 in 54 games when he was sidelined by a woman admirer who shot him in a Chicago hotel.

Wisconsin Labeled "Surprise" Of 1949

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—(AP)—Wisconsin, which rallied from a disastrous '48 season to make a valiant fight for the Big Ten title this year has been voted the "surprise" college football team of 1949 in a nationwide Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

Under a new coach, Ivy Williamson, the Badgers won three of their first five conference games, tied another, and were not eliminated from Rose Bowl contention until their final contest, in which they bowed to Minnesota, 14-6.

In all, 23 teams were nominated for the distinction of having most greatly upset pre-season calculations. Louisiana State, which won a Sugar Bowl assignment by walloping such home-conference luminaries as Rice, Tulane and North Carolina, proved a strong second and choice among the balloters.

Virginia and Pittsburgh were tied for third, each having been singled out by five voters as the surprise package of the campaign. Virginia, though thin in reserves, won seven straight games before losing to Tulane.

Pittsburgh, just returned to the big time, played a gruelling schedule and scored victories over Northwestern, Penn and Penn State.

California and Ohio State, who will meet in the Rose Bowl, each received four votes. Ohio State was singled out largely on the strength of its surprising tie with Michigan on closing day; California because it won 10 straight while playing what some critics thought was "outmoded" power football.

Boudreau Won't Start Dieting Until Jan. 1

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6—(AP)—Lemon cream pie was the subject today of a bet between Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians and the team's traveling secretary, Spud Goldstein.

Boudreau, here for the minor league meetings, has been sporting a paunch that would look well on a comfortable banker. Lunching with Goldstein, he started in on the pie.

Noting Goldstein's expression, he admonished him: "Don't look so worried, Spud. I'm starting my diet Jan. 1, not before then."

So Spud bet Lou a $150 suit of clothes that the Tribe's manager would weigh more than 186 when spring training begins, 181 the day the season opens. Boudreau now weighs about 193.

Williams Feared "Fix" In Monday Go

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6—(AP)—Ike Williams still rules the lightweights but he furnished more excitement in his dressing room than he did outpointing Chicago's Freddie Dawson in Convention hall's ring.

The champion, in an unusual pre-fight press conference last night, called reporters to his dressing room and told them he feared a "fix."

Williams related that he received a telephone call during the afternoon in which the caller said if the bout went the full 15 rounds the championship would change hands.

Frank (Blinky) Palermo, who signed a contract to manage the Trenton, N. J., Negro for another three years, refused to put much credence in the report. But at Williams' insistence called the sports writers from ringside.

Ike refused to elaborate on his statement or give the name of the person who called him.

But after taking a unanimous but close decision from Dawson that displeased many in the house of 10,389, Williams said his fears apparently resulted from a "bum steer."

The odds, however, on the champion dropped during the day from 12 to 5 to 7½ to 5 as plenty of money showed for the Chicagoan. In three previous non-title bouts they fought a 10-round draw, Williams won by a knockout in another and took the third by a close decision.

Acting Chairman George Jones of the State Athletic commission said he had no knowledge of any reported fix.

Salem Junior High Wins From Leetonia

Salem Junior High kept right on winning Monday night when the squad tripped the Leetonia Juniors 30-18 in a game at Leetonia. Swete notched eight points to lead Salem, with Hantsell getting seven and Llewellyn six.

In a prelim game the seventh grades topped Leetonia 26-11.

National League Has Eye On Braves For Trade Move

By JOE REICHLER

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6—(AP)—The spotlight was thrust squarely upon the Boston Braves today as the rest of the trade-minded National league clubs waited to see what Manager Billy Southworth would do before making a move of their own.

The general feeling at this 48th minor league convention is that Southworth must dispose of at least three of his alleged "insurrectionists" before he resumes active control of the club on the field.

Those supposed to be in the know insist that second baseman Eddie Stanky and pitchers Johnny Sain and Bobby Hogue are certain to be traded. They would not be too surprised if Billy were to trade either southpaw ace Warren Spahn or righthander Vernon Bickford, both of whom are said to have voiced their displeasure against Southworth.

John Quinn, general manager of the Braves, admitted the Giants had made Boston and offer for Stanky, but added that so had several other clubs. He did not deny nor confirm that Eddie was on the market, but revealed that the Braves had recently turned down a cash offer for the scrappy infielder.

In the meantime, the American league clubs were lining up their sights, eager to bring home some new players for Christmas.

Bill DeWitt, president of the St. Louis Browns revealed that the Cleveland Indians had made him a bid for third baseman Bob Dillinger but he had turned it down.

Hank Greenberg offered me Al Rosen to even up for Dillinger, DeWitt said. "I told him I'd want more than Rosen plus plenty of cash. He countered by offering me one of his wild rookie pitchers, a boy called Dick Rozek and Rosen for Dillinger and Ned Garver, one of my ace right-handers. I figured it was time to end the conversation and I did."

Cleveland also offered to deal for Vic Wertz, hard-hitting Detroit outfielder, but was told Wertz was not "tradeable."

To the Man Who Is Worried About His Friends ...

OCCASIONALLY, we encounter a man who hesitates to buy a Cadillac for fear his friends might think him ostentatious.

For all such people, we have the most reassuring news: The experience of Cadillac owners would indicate that your fears are without foundation.

True, the world has long since recognized that a Cadillac car is a fine and distinguished possession—but most people understand that quality is not a luxury, and that distinction is the offspring of goodness.

The facts in support of Cadillac's practicality are so convincing that the mere recital of just a few should be sufficient reassurance for the most hesitant buyer. Take, for instance, the matter of cost. There are eight other makes of cars which actually have certain models that are priced above the lowest-priced Cadillac.

There is long life, for example. Four Cadillacs, of the 1942 Series, ran a total of 2,599,000 miles in a test recently conducted by a great tire manufacturer—almost 650,000 miles per car. All four were then sold into private service—and are still going strong!

Then there is economy. Innumerable tests show that the 1949 Cadillac actually approaches the lowest-priced popular cars in gasoline economy.

And, finally, there are the dependability records—which prove that the car's freedom from the need of repairs is just as unusual as its performance and beauty! Yes—if you are ready for a Cadillac, come in. You will never make a more sensible purchase—or one of which your friends will more heartily approve.

Uniform Laws On Trucking Sought

Officials From 14 States End Sessions

COLUMBUS, Dec. 6—(AP)—Highway officials of 14 states today are expected to make recommendations for uniform laws regulating weights and dimensions of trucks using their highways.

Yesterday, Gov. Frank J. Lausche, urged them to draw up a declaration of policy to help guide legislators. Discussions end today.

T. J. Kauer, Ohio highway director who called the two-day conference, has asked truckers and their associations not to seek further increases in weight and load limits now.

Study of the question will require more time, he said, and highways now in existence and those yet to be built must be considered.

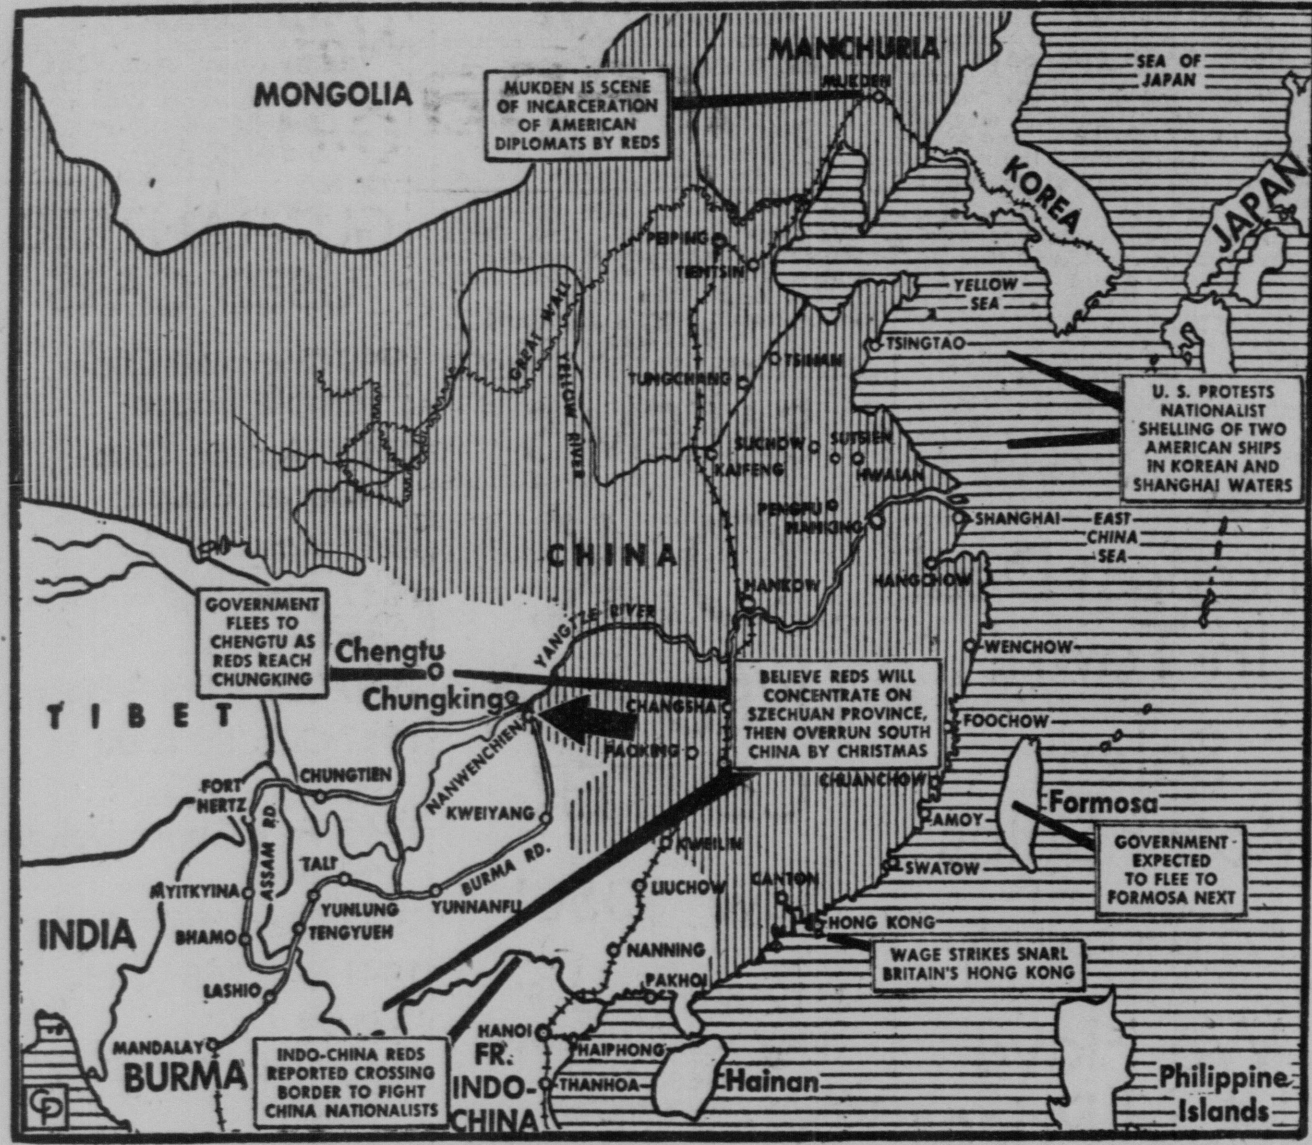

However, there was little indication that state and national trucking associations at yesterday's sessions would agree to the suggestion.

Every session of the Ohio legislature in the last 10 years has increased truck load limitation at the request of truckers, Kauer said.

"The truckers themselves have said a moratorium is needed while the question is given more study," Kauer said. "When is it going to stop and why? But will they agree to limit their loads, while the study is being made, to the limits recommended by the American Association of State Highway Officials?"

To this plea, Frank E. Kirby, director of the Ohio Truck Association, replied:

"We don't approve of the ASSHO standards for any

Automatic Block Signals For Pilots New Safety Proposal

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—(INS)—When Albert (Pete) E. Blomquist asked me to come up to see his blueprints sometime, I at least gave him credit for a new approach.

The invitation grew out of a party where my life-long habit of eavesdropping paid off when I heard a man say that the most popular misconception concerning air transportation today is the fixed belief that there is limitless space in the wild blue yonder.

"An airport can hold more planes on the ground than it can safely afford to have stacked up-stairs, waiting to land," said the man. "People seem to think the sky is the limit and you can keep stacking 'em up indefinitely. It isn't true and it certainly isn't safe."

The man turned out to be Mr. Blomquist, internationally famous transportation engineer, who is now up to his ears planning an international airline for the Israeli Ministry of Transport, as well as its rail and marine systems.

(Mr. Blomquist is used to big jobs. As an officer in the Air Force in World War II, he did the logistical planning for airborne operations for the combined chiefs of staff and helped develop gliders, carrier craft and equipment for fighting planes.)

Blomquist worked it out in 1947 when the Port authority of New York asked him to study its air problems. But he is firmly convinced that its national adaptation would take much of the hazard out of flying, particularly in messy weather.

Rochester adopted the system eighteen months ago with results 100 percent to the good. A half-dozen committees with ponderous names are now studying the report, no less than the major airlines.

When I went up to see the Blomquist blueprints, I discovered that this engineer has had the colossal nerve to swipe and apply to the air the automatic block signal system developed by the air's chief rival, the railroads.

"Sure," said Mr. Blomquist, shamelessly admitting to grand larceny. "The more I study the problem of air transportation, the more I am convinced that the system of railway terminal yards and their automatic safety signal devices is exactly what aviation needs."

HE BELIEVES, for instance, that the New York area needs an aerial "yard" with four main sky tracks, 55 miles in length, each ten miles apart and with a top altitude of 9,000 feet. Furthermore, he would turn every pilot into a flying Casey Jones. His cockpit would be equipped with the same automatic block signal devices as a locomotive cab.

"One central signal tower would control an entire area," Mr. Blomquist said. "Signals would do the whole business. There would be no more of this romantic but dangerous business of 'talking a pilot in'."

"This new equipment at all times would show the pilot exactly where he is within the yard. Sometimes it takes 20 eternal minutes, in which anything can happen, to get voice instructions."

"But with this automatic equipment adopted from the railroads' proved safety system, a pilot can ask and get instructions in two seconds."

"Air traffic control equipment now in use is antiquated," he added.

IN FACT, Mr. Blomquist has far more than a sneaking suspicion that most of the world's cities and hamlets are antiquated, too. The airfield, like the railroad station 56 years ago, is the new focal point around, which towns and business districts will grow up.

His proof? The fact that many American airports now garner 50 to 65 per cent of their revenue from concessions to sell such diverse consumer goods as food, cocktails, jewelry, clothing and auto accessories.

Such fields are already cities in embryo, he said.

Ohio Bridges Weak, Officials Are Told

COLUMBUS, Dec. 6—(AP)—At least one out of every four of the 9,600 bridges on the Ohio highway system is too weak or too narrow for today's traffic.

That's the picture painted yesterday by D. H. Overman, assistant chief engineer of the state bureau of bridges, at a meeting of highway officials from 14 states.

Last year 37 bridges on state roads alone failed, he said, and so far in 1949 there have been 33 complete failures and 70 partial failures.

Harry E. Marshall told the conference that since 1940 that "severe deterioration and greatly increased cost of maintenance of all types of pavement" have resulted from the increase in the number and weight of heavy trucks.

Jury Wants To Clear Jail Of Mentally Ill

CLEVELAND, Dec. 6—(AP)—State Welfare Director John H. Lamneck was expected to appear today before the Cuyahoga county grand jury.

The jury wants immediate action to clear the jail here of mentally ill prisoners. For the past three weeks it has been investigating conditions.

Lamneck's department is in charge of caring for Ohio's mentally ill.

OEA Seeks To Limit Classroom Rolls

COLUMBUS, Dec. 6—(AP)—The educational council, research group of the Ohio Education Association, said today the problem of overcrowded classrooms has become critical in many Ohio communities.

It suggested the possibility of withholding state funds from schools which maintain such bulging room enrollments as "the only effective way of controlling class size." The suggestion was made in a study which will be submitted to the OEA representative assembly here Dec. 8-10.

The report said more than 30 students per teacher is "undesirable."

At the root of the problem is the recent increase in school enrollments—largely since war years.

The council committee which made the study was headed by Kenneth M. Hazen of Alliance. Other members are W. K. Dunton of Piqua, Hubert E. White of Youngstown, John F. Hummel of Columbus and Helen Vorman of Lorain.

Hoey Accident Results In Charge

COLUMBUS, Dec. 6—(AP)—State Highway Patrolman W. G. Sternad last night filed a second degree manslaughter charge against Howard J. Gardner of Columbus in connection with the traffic death of Robert E. Hoey, Ohio State Journal sports editor.

Cars driven by Hoey and Gardner collided one week ago when Hoey was on his way home from work. Hoey died in a hospital last Wednesday.

Economy Push Led By Hoover

Ex-President Returns To Capital For Talk

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover is coming back to Washington to push along a new drive to reorganize the government as a step toward economy.

The Republican former president will speak next Monday night before the National Reorganization conference. His theme will be one that some GOP party members are voicing as a rallying cry for the 1950 congressional campaigns—a contention that excess spending and high taxes are threatening the existence of the republic.

Speaking at a non-partisan forum, Hoover is expected to stick to his main topic that widespread savings can be made by reorganization of the government.

In a preview of his speech in New York last week, however, he covered a broader field. He said that the principal danger to the republic lies in the attitude of many groups in the country who think they ought to be fed by the taxpayers instead of making a living for themselves.

This is the sort of thing Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has been talking about in attacks on the "hand-out state" which he says is the Truman administration's aim. Guy G. Gabrielson, the GOP national chairman, varied the phrase by calling it a "poorhouse state."

Hoover said economy in government is a practice, not a theory. He is likely to find a difference of opinion in Washington over how much economy is practical.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The small boy and the telephone operator had a slight misunderstanding.

BURKHARDT'S BEER WINS OHIO CITIES' TASTE TESTS

Skill will tell! Burkhardt's Beer was the winner when hundreds of bottles of the beers most popular in Springfield were compared in a city-wide taste test.

When Mr. Richard Wagner recognized Burkhardt's for its milder taste and excellent aftertaste, he was paying tribute to the skill with which it is brewed. The finest of barley malt, the tender hearts of the hop buds and all the other superior ingredients are brewed and fully aged into such a fine flavored beer that it could easily win the Springfield Taste Test.
